GOOD STORY OF A YOUNG MISS WHO YEARNED FOR SOCIETY.

Her Premature Entrance Into the Charmed Circle and Its Results—An Amiable Feminine Cousin and a Perfectly Horrified Mama.

A good story is told concerning one of last winter's debutantes, and since the heroine tells it on herself there is no impropriety in making it public. The winter before last Miss M. was still in the schoolroom, and though she possessed social aspirations they were not gratified by her mother. A cousin from Philadelphia came to spend the month of January with the family, and, being an heiress and accustomed to going about a great deal, her wardrobe was a thing of wonderful fascination to little Miss M. Singularly enough, the figures of the two girls were of an exact size, and the younger found constant delight in arraying herself in the frippery belonging to her good natured cousin. Many an hour was devoted to flouncing about the third story with long skirts and hair tucked up under the latest bonnet importation, and there was much secret practice with lorgnette and fan.

Mrs. M. and the rich cousin were plunged to the eyebrows in social gayeties, to the envy of the young daughter of the house. One day Mrs. M. was indisposed, and the rich cousin was confronted with the necessity of attending by herself a musical, three teas and making the cabinet calls. When she bemoaned the fact of going alone, her youthful kinswoman was seized with an inspiration. "Oh, well," said she, "lend me some of your clothes and let me go with you. Mother will never know anything about it."

Being as amiable as rich, the visitor consented, promising herself a treat in beholding her young cousin's entrance into society. Only a short time was necessary for the changes of costume, and when the heiress appeared at Mrs. Blank's musicals every one turned to look twice at the stunning little figure. It was a vision of bright eyes behind a tantalizing veil, rebellious yellow curls carelessly knotted and feathers, laces, velvets and silks irresistibly Frenchy.

If she was the sensation of the musical, she was the universal rage at the teas. Every one wanted to meet her. Young men fell over themselves and others to obtain for her an ice or a mignonette.

And all the time the little society fledgling was quaking and fearing and blushing and suffering agonies behind the veil. It was embarrassing to acknowledge that she was not going to this and that social function, had not seen the latest theatrical success, did not even know the visiting nobleman all the girls were raving over. Deeper and deeper she became involved, and the number of fits necessary to invent paralyzed her conscience.

And the little Miss M. breathed a sigh of relief when, arrayed in her own angelic length gown, she was safely installed in her own home. Presumably her trials were ended. But not so; there were consequences to be faced.

The next morning Mrs. M. appeared at the breakfast table, and in the branch of mail there were several small envelopes addressed to Miss M. Also there were others with the inscription "Mr. and Mrs. M. and Miss M." Mrs. M. passed these over with only an elevation of the eyebrows, but her daughter thought it wise to leave the room. Opening her private letters, Mrs. M. read a note from a friend apologizing for a social error and inviting Miss M. to assist at her home that afternoon. A second note contained an apology for not having invited Miss M. to a debutante luncheon on the previous day.

Mrs. M. was completely mystified, but an early visitor soon opened her eyes. This visitor called hurriedly to say how surprised she was that Mrs. M. was introducing a daughter, and compliments were profuse upon the beauty and success of that daughter. "She was quite the sweetest thing yesterday at the musicals. Every one fell in love with her. I want her to fill an unexpected vacancy in my young people's dinner tonight."

Mrs. M. gasped out: "There must be some mistake. I have no daughter in society."

"Why, your niece introduced her to me," interrupted the astonished visitor. But by this time Mrs. M. was ringing the bell furiously and both niece and daughter were hurriedly summoned. Explanations followed, and ultimately forgiveness, but it was some time before Mrs. M. managed to convince society that she was not launching a beautiful daughter that season.

Last winter when this same charming girl came out formally and correctly, and in her own instead of borrowed finery, there must have been several society men saying to themselves: "By Jove, where have I seen somebody like Miss M.? Must have been some one I met last season."—Washington Star.

The Latter Day Jerusalem.

When I landed at Yafa, I first began to open my eyes in regard to the Holy Land. This is a seaport town, and it is dirty and filthy and is overrun with beggars who have their "mit" out on every corner. In the middle of winter, when a light snow was falling, the Arabs, wearing cheap cotton clothing, would stand around and shiver. Everybody shivered for that matter, for I never saw a stove or fireplace in the town. Excuse me from going to Jerusalem again for pleasure. I was disgusted with the place on account of its filthy streets and foul, noisome odors.—"Story of a Returned Traveler."

Resolved, That the people of the Island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent."

SPANISH SONS AND THE WAR DEBT

The Washington Star states authoritatively that an active exchange of views has taken place between the diplomats who are endeavoring to arrive at a peace understanding between the United States and Spain. It states that the Spanish Government is ready to agree to evacuate Cuba, if her soldiers are allowed to depart in a manner acceptable to a defeated army, and if the United States is ready to assume the Cuban debt.

The demand that the United States shall assume the Cuban debt, that is the debt owed by Spain for the payment of which Cuban revenues are pledged, is, under the circumstances, exceedingly modest. It is said that the debt secured by Cuban revenues amounts to $400,000,000. The United States army has invaded Cuba, annihilated the Spanish fleet, and takes possession of the eastern part of the island. If the war continues our army will have the whole island in a few months beyond reasonable doubt. For the United States to assume a debt of $400,000,000 under such circumstances would be reaping the fruits of victory with a vengeance. Of course the holders of Spanish bonds would like to have it that way, but the American people will not quietly submit to such terms.

Regarding indemnity it is said that a syndicate of American and English bankers propose to pay whatever amount may be agreed upon in twenty annuities, taking in return the tobacco monopoly and railroad concessions in Cuba and the Philippines. This philanthropic and patriotic syndicate will pay the war expenses of the United States if the United States will give it concessions by which it can quadruple the capital invested annually.

SPANISH TROOPS TO BE REMOVED.

The Commission appointed to arrange terms of capitulation with the Spaniards at Santiago has agreed upon the conditions. The Spanish troops now in the province of Santiago de Cuba, numbering about 20,000, are to be transported to Spain. They will deliver their arms to the Americans, though the officers, as a matter of courtesy, are to be permitted to retain their side arms. The mines are to be removed from Santiago harbor and all the fortifications in the province are to be turned over to the Americans.

This indicates that the war is nearly over. Spain has been humbled and admits defeat. The entire island of Cuba will doubtless be evacuated by the Spanish troops as soon as transportation can be provided and the Stars and Stripes will float over Havana before the close of July. Spain, it is said, offers to exchange Puerto Rico for the Philippines and give up all its colonies on the American side of the Atlantic. Her fleet are scattered and strayed on the Cuban coast and sunk in Manila harbor, and her armies are surrounded by Americans, with no hope of fighting their way out and are driven to the alternative of surrendering or dying in the entrenchments.

MISTAKES OF ARMY ORGANIZATION.

The Chicago Record thinks it is not out of place to make certain criticisms of the first battle which resulted in the capture of the outer defenses at Santiago de Cuba by the American army. The Record says: "A mistake was made in selecting Tampa as the embarking point. That is plain to the public now. Doubtless it would have been plain to the army authorities at the start had they not selected Tampa as the port safest from attack by the Spanish warships, the effectiveness of which was not then known. As a consequence of having so poor an embarking place, where the facilities for handling freight of every sort were wretchedly insufficient, and partly as a result of inefficiency and unpreparedness of management, the troops and supplies were not got away in the best of condition. One reason for the delay in getting the siege guns in operation before Santiago was that when taken apart for shipping the pieces were so widely separated that they could not be readily assembled again. So the American infantry, barges, stone forts with scarcely any artillery to prepare the way. Naturally the men in killed and wounded was heavy."

The quartermaster's department has come in for considerable criticism. Much of the lack of efficiency may have been inevitable. Some of it undoubtedly was. Still, after due allowance has been made, it seems that there is much cause for complaint. Troops were assembled at scurvy points before there was need for them, and where they suffered considerably from the heat which followed. In this regard needed conveniences could be provided. In some instances, too many persons seemed to be taking a hand in directing matters, and in this connection Secretary Alger has been criticized for manifesting disposition to dip into affairs and interfere with details that have been left to others who could have disposed of them more expeditiously.

"General Shafter is an able and patriotic commander, but in the light of the present it was a mistake to give him charge of the expedition against Santiago, where the nature of the service and the heat were both so oppressive. His weight and age were against him. When the fighting was at its hottest General Shafter was in his tent ill, and had to direct the battle from his couch. Such an outcome is only what was to have been expected from a man of his weight and years. General Wheeler, another gallant soldier, was too old for service under such conditions, and was also taken ill. It is the young and robust men, of great powers of endurance, who are qualified to render the most effective service, and the commanding officers should have been men of that type as far as possible.

"After all has been said, however, it still remains true that the army about Santiago has made a very good showing. The fighting qualities manifested by the soldiers were magnificent. But more careful preparation and management would be indispensable were our forces to go against the army of a more progressive nation than Spain."

CONDENSED WAR NOTES.

The conditions of surrender of Santiago and adjacent territory provides that the United States will transport with as little delay as possible all of the Spanish troops in the district to the kingdom of Spain. Officers will retain their side arms and both officers and men their personal property. The Spanish commander is to take the military archives belonging to surrendered districts. Other provisions concerning those Spaniards who desire to remain are named. It is estimated that the Spanish troops at and in the neighborhood of Santiago number 24,000.

President McKinley and Secretary Alger have cabled their congratulations to General Shafter.

It is said that General Miles will personally command the Porto Rico expedition. It is expected that the campaign there will be short and decisive.

The Cabinet officials went over the war situation yesterday; although no official statement was given out it is believed that the movement against Porto Rico and Commodore Watson's squadron to move on Spain will be the next in order.

The 20,000 refugees at Cane and Giboney will be turned back into the city. The Hospital Corps of the American army is giving prompt attention to sick and wounded Spaniards.

SILVER PARTY STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

Names Reno as the place for the Convention to meet and fixes Thursday, September 18th, as the date.

The Silver Party State Central Committee met in the Riverside Hotel Parlor at 12 o'clock yesterday. There was a good attendance and much interest was manifested.

Chairman Powning was absent and Secretary Roff called the meeting to order. Major Huffaker was chosen as temporary chairman.

The Secretary called the names of the members and a quorum was found to be present. The meeting then adjourned until 1 o'clock.

At 1 o'clock the Committee again assembled and it was decided upon motion that in case of an absent member, a member of the same delegation would be permitted to cast the vote of the absentee. R. Sadler moved that the date of the State Convention be fixed for September 8, 1898.

Mr. Finnigan moved to amend by substituting the 12th of September for the 8th. Lost.

The original motion was then adopted. The place of meeting was the next matter for consideration. Reno, Carson, Virginia and Winnemucca were all proposed, when Mr. Nixon moved that the roll be called and the town receiving the majority of the vote cast be chosen as the place for the meeting of the convention. This was agreed to. The roll was called and the first ballot resulted as follows: Reno 23, Virginia 11, Winnemucca 7, Carson 6. There being no choice five of Winnemucca's votes changed to Reno and four of Carson's to Virginia. Reno receiving a majority of all the votes cast was declared the location for the convention.

The apportionment of delegates to the State Convention was made on the basis of one delegate for every 50 votes at the last election and one delegate for each fraction over 25 votes as based upon the vote of B. F. Lester for Presidential Elector at the last Congressional election.

The primaries were ordered to be held on the 20th of August, 1898, in the various precincts throughout the State.

The following test was unanimously adopted:

"I am in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 by the United States, independent of any other nation, and I will support the nominees of the Silver Party."

No further business appearing the State Central Committee adjourned.

ACQUISITION OF TERRITORY.

Shall We Keep What We Gain in the War?

The Chicago Tribune has asked the Governors of the several States for an expression of opinion on the question: "Shall we or shall we not keep what we have; as applying to territory gained in this war?"

To this Governor Sadler replied as follows:

CARSON CITY, Nevada, July 16, 1898.—

In my opinion an inevitable result of the war will be the annexation of Cuba.

Though we proclaimed that this is not a war of conquest, we also announced that a stable government would be established and maintained in Cuba.

As the insurgents evidently cannot maintain such a government and the United States are pledged to do so, it will be necessary to keep a standing army in Cuba for some time. This will encourage emigration from the United States to the island, which is destined to become Americanized and be admitted to the Union as a Sovereign

State in a few years.

Regarding the Philippine Islands the conditions are different. To annex them would be a complete abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine. They are densely inhabited with an undesirable people, who never could be Ameri-cized. We might hold them as security for war expenditures with the understanding that they would be released upon payment of the indemnity.

Cuba will become a State without violation of pledges on our part; the Philippines cannot unless we stifly ourselves.

REINHOLD SADLER,

Governor of Nevada.

Will Stay with His Men.

A Carson correspondent of the Virginia Report writes to that paper as follows regarding the Majorship of the Nevada Battalion:

"I am told that Charley Stoddard,

Captain of the Reno company, was offered the appointment, but declined

it because he had promised his company to stay with them. Charley would have made a good appointment,

having served through the late unpleasantness as a soldier in the Confederate army, and being possessed of more actual experience than any of his felow-Captains."

A Narrow Escape.

Lineman Holman of Western Union

Telegraph Company had a close call for his life yesterday while running on his hand car on the V. & T. R. R. near the Mound House. The wind was blowing a gale and blew down and across the track a large pole with its wires, the same taking just in front of him. Had he been a second or two earlier, the pole and wires would have crushed directly upon him. It is better sometimes to be a little late.

The men being examined—More re-ruits wanted—A lively night in Camp.

There are now nearly 400 men at Camp Sadler, the majority of whom have been examined and pronounced physically sound by Surgeon Finnigan.

Lieutenant Bennett of the 3rd Artil-

ery examines every paper closely, as he is held responsible by the War Department. There are dress parades every evening. Last night the scene was enlivened by a fifer and drummer,

marching along the parade ground playing Yankee Doodle, which reminded the men who have passed the prime of life, of Fourth of July parades, when they were boys.

The guards in the dead of night discovered that there were thieves about,

who were trying to appropriate blankets and overcoats branded U. S. Shots were fired by the sentinels, but whether the bullets struck the thieves, who were probably Spaniards, has not been ascertained. They left the booty, however, whether they escaped with whole skin or not.

Yesterday Surgeon Finnigan examined 64 men, many of them new recruits,
